Loves Sorrow is the first book of the Means of Mercy series. I had a confusing time with this review, at first, until Sandy found out this was to be continued in the next book. The story well written and intriguing. A historical romance with all the finery and dresses we love to hear about.

Love's Sorrow (Means of Mercy #1) by Terri Rochenski

His expressive and emotional style of playing enabled him to make contact with audiences in a way that earlier masters of the 19th century could not. Sadly, as related here by Amy Biancolli, the public remembers Kreisler today more for his pleasing violin compositions than his influence on performance technique, even if some of the greater violinists know better.

Friedrich-Max "Fritz" Kreisler (February 2, 1875 – January 29, 1962) was an Austrian-born American violinist and composer. One of the most noted violin masters of his day, and regarded as one of the greatest violinists of all time, he was known for his sweet tone and expressive phrasing. Like many great violinists of his generation, he produced a characteristic sound which was immediately ...

I thought I'd talk a bit about the state of veterinary arts in the 19th century, as it was a field that was developing and growing and really coming into its own during this time. I had to research the field quite a bit for my first book, UNLACED, as the heroine, Lucy, was a 'horsey girl' learning veterinary arts second-hand from a student at the Veterinary College in London.

German literature, German literature comprises the written works of the German-speaking peoples of central Europe. It has shared the fate of German politics and history: fragmentation and discontinuity. Germany did not become a modern nation-state until 1871, and the prior history of the various German states is marked by warfare, religious turmoil, and periods of economic decline.

19th Century Love Poems by French Poets. Many 19th century French poets beautifully capture and translate the romanticism of love. Three poets from this era - Victor Hugo, Marceline Desbordes-Valmore and Alphonse de Lamartine - epitomize the French love poem. Their work captures love in its extremity, from first bloom to the grave. Related Articles
